

Critical cases are checked as required.

When the health problem is resolved, or the animal is euthanized due to study or humane endpoints, or spontaneous death occurs, the red card is attached to the rodent health report and the date and appropriate boxes are updated on the rodent health report.

The health report is returned to the office where the information is entered into a data base.