

November 2022

additional information*

Arts and Science Awards

FAS researcher Dr. John Smol (Department of Biology) has joined elite company by recently earning the Rick Battarbee Lifetime Achievement Award from the International Paleolimnology Association (IPA). Read the story: John Smol earns lifetime achievement honours

Dr. Parvin Mousavi (School of Computing) is one of the researchers on the forefront of AI developments and is working to advance next generation medical interventions. Read the story: Advancing medical interventions through artificial intelligence

The Black Studies Collective (Taylor Cenac, Katherine McKittrick, Daniel McNeil, Dalitso Ruwe, and Vanessa Thompson) hosted two events to mark the launch of the Black Studies program. Read the story: An exciting new chapter for Black Studies at Queen's

Dr. Stephanie Zhononova (Department of Psychology) has been named a 2022 Queen's University Distinguished Professor. Read the story: Dr. Stephanie Zhononova named Distinguished Professor

Two FAS students were named Regional Winners and three FAS students were earned Highly Commended honours at this year's Global Undergraduate Awards. Read the story: Five FAS students recognized globally for undergraduate work

The Queen's University Industrial Relations Centre (IRC) celebrated 85 years of success. Read the story: A salute to the past, and optimism for the future

Melissa Balson (Arts'00, PME'20), undergraduate program assistant in the Department of Physics, Engineering Physics and Astronomy, and Haley Everson, associate director, Student Services were among the two FAS staff members out of the four Queen's recipients of the Michael Condra Outstanding Student Service Award. Read the story: Staff members recognized for outstanding