Report to Senate – Meeting of April 23, 2009

Proposal to introduce the Drug Development and Human Toxicology (DDHT) stream in the existing Bachelor of Science in Life Sciences in the Faculty of Arts and Science

Introduction

The proposal to introduce the Drug Development and Human Toxicology (DDHT) stream in the existing Bachelor of Science in Life Sciences in the Faculty of Arts and Science was reviewed by the Senate Committee on Academic Development (SCAD) at its meeting April 1, 2009. T. Massey, Department Head in the Department of Pharmacology and Toxicology, and M. Adams, Undergraduate Chair in the Department of Pharmacology and Toxicology, attended the SCAD meeting to speak to the proposal and answer questions from members of SCAD. Members of SCAD were also provided with the Program Approval Submission Form, which outlines the major components of the proposal. A copy of the proposal is attached to this report.

Analysis and Discussion

The following should be noted:

- many graduates of the Life Sciences program enter industry or government well trained, however, the graduates feel they are lacking in experience related to the drug discovery process;
- Health Canada and the pharmaceutical industry have both confirmed that having graduates with experience in this area would be beneficial;
- the proposed DDHT stream would admit a maximum of 16 student who would enter the stream in fourth year and build on their existing Life Sciences training;
- the proposed stream will be based on existing courses and two new ½ courses in Drug Discovery and Drug Development and Human Toxicology;
- the proposed stream will admit 2/3 students currently studying in the Honours Life Sciences Research stream and 1/3 students from the existing Life Science program to benefit from cross fertilization and add to the learning experience;
- graduates will pursue careers in government, biotechnology, and pharmaceutical and will be better prepared to enter graduate or professional school.

I have reviewed the program submissions and offer the following comments:

> we do not anticipate rooming problems for either stream; a process will have to be developed for the DDHT stream for ad hoc booking of a videoconferencing facility as required

> we anticipate a scheduling challenge for MBIO 218* (a) in general if plans proceed to collapse two sections into
